AGRONOMY

Golf Course Superintendent: Andy Mallick
PGA TOUR Agronomist: Tim Connolly, CGCS

The inaugural Magnit Championship will be held on two of the three 9-hole courses at Metedeconk National Golf Club. The course was originally designed by Robert Trent Jones Sr and Roger Rulewich, and the club is currently working with Ray Hearn to continue refining the layout that winds through the New Jersey Pinelands. Greens are generally small with plenty of movement. They are a blend of 007/A1/A4 creeping bentgrass and will be in good condition for the tournament. Creeping bentgrass tees were recently renovated and will be in excellent condition. Fairways drain well and are a mix of PennTrio creeping bentgrass and Poa annua. Rough is a mix of cool-season grasses that can be formidable if summer rains affect central New Jersey. Many holes are framed with fine fescue naturalized areas that will provide a nice color contrast throughout the summer. Metedeconk also features one of the most expansive practice facilities in the United States.
