AGRONOMY

Golf Course Superintendent: Adam Wiles
PGA TOUR Agronomist: PJ Ringenberger

The Glen Club has experienced very good growing conditions leading up to this event. Although the club hosts both members and public play and has been very busy, Adam Wiles, and his team have done a very good job in providing great turf quality and an overall great product for the event next week. There have been no significant course changes but the date change for this event from May to July will allow for a different look around the property as everything is in top summer form.

- The mostly bentgrass greens are smooth and should provide good firmness while boasting greenspeeds of 11-12'
- The tees and approaches are maintained at .375" Height of cut and fairways are .400"
- The Rough was mowed at 2.25" and will be allowed to grow through the event which will result in 3-4" rough during competition rounds.
