3 PM Weather Update

Thursday, April 9, 2026

Synopsis: Sunny skies and temperatures in the low 70s will continue through the afternoon. A northeast to east-northeast breeze of 7–12 mph will gradually diminish this evening. Clear skies and light winds overnight will allow temperatures to fall into the upper 40s by daybreak Friday. Dry air will remain firmly in place through the weekend, with relative humidity dropping to 20–30% each afternoon as high pressure strengthens across the Southeast. Mostly sunny conditions will persist through the end of the week, with a warming trend developing—bringing highs into the mid-80s by Saturday and Sunday.
